DID YOU KNOW?

On January 17, 1969, two High Potential Program students—Alprentice “Bunchy” Carter and John Huggins—were assassinated in 1201 Campbell Hall. The assassination took place after a student meeting to decide qualifications for the selection of the first director of the newly-formed Afro-American Studies Center. The assassinations were characterized in the press as being the result of an ongoing feud between two militant Black organizations—the Black Panther Party and the US organization, which supported different candidates for the director position. Three members of US were convicted of the murders. Both Carter and Huggins were leaders of the Los Angeles division of the Black Panther Party. Many speculate, however, that the assassination was instigated by the FBI’s COINTELPRO which, at the time, was engaged in a clandestine campaign to eliminate the Black Panther Party. Note: COINTELPRO is an acronym for a series of FBI counterintelligence programs designed to neutralize political dissidents. From 1956 to 1971, these programs were broadly targeted against radical political organizations.
