UCLA Summer Programs for Undergraduate & Graduate Research 2011

Juniors, Seniors and Cal State University Predocs...

Thinking About Graduate School?
Gain research experience working one-on-one with a faculty member this summer. Program participants will receive a stipend, room and board in one of the UCLA residence halls and transportation costs.

The Programs
The explicit objectives of the UCLA Summer Programs for Undergraduate & Graduate Research (SPUR/GR) are to help prepare, motivate, encourage and support those students who are thinking about graduate school and possibly an academic career in teaching and research. The programs offer upper-division undergraduate students and California State University Sally Casanova Pre-Doctoral Scholars the opportunity to work individually with faculty mentors on research projects in virtually all academic disciplines. Participants will attend workshops and seminars on academic career opportunities, standardized test preparation, writing and research skills, and strategies for enhancing success in applying to graduate school.

Eligibility
Applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents, entering their junior or senior year during the 2011-2012 academic year who will not graduate before March of 2011, and have a cumulative minimum GPA of 2.80. See the web site for eligibility requirements for specific programs.

Note that students who intend to pursue professional graduate degrees in law (JD), management (MBA), medicine (MD) or dentistry (DDS) are not eligible for some of the programs participating in the UCLA SPUR/GR.

Programs Dates
8 weeks: June 19 - August 13
10 weeks: June 19 - August 26

To Apply
More information will be available at: www.gdnet.ucla.edu/asis/srp/srpintro.htm

The online application will be available by mid-October, 2010.
Applicants must include supplemental information (which may be printed from the web site), official undergraduate transcripts and, depending on the program, a Financial Aid Transcript.

The deadline for submission is early February to mid-March, depending on the program. All supplemental materials—including the letter of recommendation—must be received by the program’s deadline. Incomplete files will not be reviewed.
